

Hip-Hop Celebrity Snoop Dogg Takes Blame

Written by Robert ID2606

Thursday, 11 May 2006 03:40 -

Long Beach California hip-hop star Snoop Dogg aka Calvin Broadus, after being banned from future travel on British Airways last month because of the brawl he and his entourage were involved in last month at Heathrow Airport; has "accepted a caution for a Section Four Public Order Act matter, using threatening words or behavior," British police officials said today.

The American hip-hop star and five members of his entourage were arrested at Heathrow Airport last month when after being refused entrance into British Airways first class lounge, resulted in a free for all.

Several police officers were hurt with minor injuries in the brawl. The other 5 members of the rap artists entourage who were involved will appear later today to answer their charges.

No future action will be sought against the hip-hop rapper British police officials said.