

Hip-Hop MC MAGIC founder and creator of NB Ridaz and now Magic City has a new album coming and sits down with ThugLifeArmy.com affiliate CRN for an exclusive interview as 'Chicano Pick of The Month' on CRN.

As a youngster, M.C. Magic always had a creative gift. This has been proven time and time again. During the early 90's, Magic demonstrated his talent by creating custom personalized recordings proving that he had what it took with his freestyle approach.

Later, he took his career to a new level by creating the Nastyboy Record label. Soon after he released the hip-hop ballad, "Lost in Love", it became an instant success resulting in heavy rotation at radio stations everywhere. This timeless hip-hop classic is still a favorite among Magic fans, who had the opportunity to revisit this cut when he re-released it as Nastyboy Klick (NBK). Magic established NBK in 1995, which later included the signature sound of Roger Troutman from Zapp. (Roger Troutman is widely known in hip-hop and rap for his work on Tupac's (2Pac) "California Love" track also). Nastyboy Klick was recognized as one of the top up and coming hip-hop groups out of Phoenix.

In 2001, Magic created yet another successful group, calling them NB Ridaz. This venture again proved to be a big hit for Magic. The group enjoyed many hits as a result of his experience and dedication.

Today, Magic is kicking off a solo project that is sure to win his fans over, yet again. Keep an eye out for "Magic City," his new undertaking, which has loyal fans anticipating the April 25th 2006 release.
