

Assata Shakurs co-defendant Sundiata Acoli (aka- Clark Edward Squire) speaks on Human Rights at the International Human Rights Initiative Conference on Torture. It is easy to see why Assata and others may be tempted to escape the punishment that is addressed here.

Recently Assata Shakur has had the bounty raised on her by the United States Government. A reward of 1 Million dollars is now offered for the godmother of the slain hip-hop rap icon Tupac Shakur.

Assata, now a 57-year-old grandmother; escaped from Clinton Correctional Facility for Women in New Jersey, . where she was serving a life sentence, plus 26 to 33 years.
.She escaped in 1979 and found asylum in Cuba.
