Bone Thugs-N-Harmony, the legendary hip hop group from Cleveland, Ohio have sold millions records. They have recorded with hip hop greats like 2Pac (Tupac Shakur) and The Notorious B.I.G. They have won a Grammy. They have redirected the path of hip-hop on a global scale.

Only one rap group has these impressive features on their extensive resume: Bone Thugs-n-Harmony.

The Cleveland hip hop crew Bone Thugs-N-Harmony are one of the most important rap groups in hip-hop history; breaking down doors for other Midwestern rappers like Nelly and Twista; launching their successful Mo Thugs record company and introducing mind-splitting, rapid-fire rapping and angelic hip hop harmonies with melodic production to the genre.

Throughout the group's turbulent career, which has been marked by the AIDS-related death of their mentor and the 'Godfather of Gangsta Rap' Eazy-E and well-publicized feuds with their former recording home, Ruthless Records, Bone has remained strong and focused on its mission to deliver strong, positive messages through hip hop to its fans, which number in the millions world wide.

With their newest album to date, "Everyday Thugs," Eazy E's protégé's come full circle with an idea they've been cultivating since their formative years in Ohio some 13 years ago.

This time, the crew is doing it independently, after parting ways with long-time label Epic/Sony. The group's latest musical masterpiece, "Everyday Thugs," will have listeners striving to get the best out of their lives, regardless of how bleak things may look.

The CD comes with a bonus DVD 'Behind the Harmony'. This specific release is for outside USA.
