The Orlando based producer duo of Andrew “Dru Brett” Harr and Jermaine “Mayne” Jackson collaboratively known as The Runners of Trac –N- Field Entertainment has done it again. Hip Hop artist Young Jeezy’s single, “Go Getta” is making record breaking radio spins in limitless major cities.

With just one year in the production game, The Runners are making the top their home stadium and the number one on the back of their jerseys. Their first major hit was Rick Ross’s “Hustlin,” which has immensely sold over a million ring tones! “Hustlin” was such a major hit that it brought Hip-Hop’s savior, rap artist Jay-Z, out of his “retirement” when he was featured on the “Hustlin” remix along with hip hop’s Young Jeezy.

Other current singles on the Billboard Charts and on heavy radio rotation include “Where My Money” by Rick Ross, “Bet That” by Trick Daddy and “Slap” by super hip hop heavy weight Ludacris, which were creatively produced by these two youthful masterminds. These production bad boys are also on board to produce the theme song for the new 2007 season of America’s Most Wanted. Other notable artists The Runners have worked with and produced tracks for include “Reppin Time” by Jim Jones, “Money on My Mind” by Lil Wayne “All or Nothing” by Fat Joe and “Murda Murda” by Juelz Santana. The Runners are set to provide the market place with hit after hit singles with their production on highly anticipated upcoming songs and albums which include Pop moguls, Britney Spears and Mariah Carey, Hip-Hop megastar’s T.I., JadaKiss, and UGK, songstress Christina Milian, the King of R&B; R. Kelly and more!

With nothing but great music for the ear and smashing records for the charts, The Runners are already in the studio working with Trick Daddy, Fabolous, and Trey Songz. The Runners are just beginning to show the world who they really are. From the masses of hip-hop and R&B all the way to Pop music, and with mounting interests in fashion, modeling, television, and a label deal, The Runners’ name is becoming a brand associated with unparalleled success.
