The shooting involving ATL hip-hop rap artist T.I. and his entourage on the interstate in Cincinnati Ohio that we mentioned earlier has turned tragic for one of the members of the rappers hip-hop entourage.

Police are now saying that one of the male victims in T.I.'s entourage has died from the wounds he received in the gun battle.

No names are being released yet.

According to what ThugLifeArmy.com's Robert can obtain: 2 members of the rappers entourage have been treated and released from the hospital. One has died and one is still in the hospital being treated. Robert hails from Cincinnati (Tha Nattie) and this happened very close to his home.

Police officials say that the rap artist T.I. was not injured in the gun battle.

Police officials say T.I., aka Clifford Harris Jr., and his hip-hop crew were involved in an altercation at a hip-hop club called Club Ritz which is located in one of Cincinnati's suburbs.

That altercation spilled out onto the street and ended up on the interstate where a 3 mile long gun battle took place.

Rap artist T.I. and Yung Jo appeared at a Cincinnati hip-hop club called Bogart's earlier in the evening. The shooting took place around 3:30 A.M. EST.

Police officials tell ThugLifeArmy.com that no arrests have been made and that the rap artist T.I. and his entourage are being questioned.
