A new children's music series "Kid's Rap Radio," has been launched and features child-friendly lyrics and arrangement of popular rap and hip hop singles.

"Kid's Rap Radio, Volume 1 & 2" will debut as a double-disc hip hop and rap collection on Nov. 21 and includes versions of "Lil Bit," "Go DJ," "Laffy Taffy" and "Touch It." The introductory release includes performances by the world's youngest hip hop rap artist, Lil Max$, as well as Steve Wash, formerly of "The Wayne Brady Show" and "The Parkers."

As new volumes of the series are released the range of performers will also continue to expand. Also arriving in stores on Nov. 21 is "Kid's Rap Christmas," which includes fun-filled versions of "Christmas in Hollis" and "The Christmas Rap."

"We are truly excited about the new release of "Kid's Rap Radio,"" says Music World Entertainment President and CEO, Mathew Knowles. "This is the first-ever hip-hop compilation album geared toward youth and it is being released on the Music World label. With the hip-hop industry constantly being scrutinized for lyrical content, "Kid's Rap Radio" allows young hip-hop fans to be positively influenced by alternate, kid-friendly lyrics of songs by today's top rap stars. The messages are positive, there's no profanity, and younger hip-hop fans will enjoy these versions of today's hottest rap songs. It's important to all of us at Music World Entertainment that today's youth be able to enjoy popular rap songs without the parental advisory warnings and that we are able to contribute by sending a positive message."
