

The Black Coffee Channel Declares Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis Greatest Ever

Written by Robert ID4106

Thursday, 20 December 2007 22:48 -

The "Cedric Muhammad and Black Coffee Program" focuses on cultural, political, and economic issues and current events impacting Black America, Africa, and the Caribbean. The show airs every Wednesday from 12 to 4 PM (EST).

During a special broadcast of the December 19th edition of "The Cedric Muhammad and Black Coffee Program" featured on The Black Coffee Channel, music producers Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis were declared the greatest of all time. Arguments and musical selections in support of the decision were prominently featured on the program that also includes interactive political and social affairs discussion.

"16 # 1 Pop Hits; 25 #1 R&B hits; and over 100 gold, platinum, and multi-platinum albums are all the empirical evidence you need. The more important proof of the cultural and entrepreneurial impact of Jam and Lewis is only rivaled, perhaps, by the legendary Gamble and Huff. Bring out the legendary Holland Dozier Holland, or anyone from hip hop to rap to R&B like Kanye West, Babyface, Teddy Riley, The Bomb Squad, Timbaland, DJ Premier, Dr. Dre, and whoever produced The Beatles or Elvis Presley, it does not matter. They all must bow down to the kings - Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis. Their music has been a motivational and inspirational force for Black America, and a universal phenomenon for all people," says Cedric Muhammad.

The Black Coffee Channel:

<http://www.blackcoffeechannel.com/>

Live Broadcast:

http://www.blackcoffeechannel.com/index.php?option=com_content&task=view&id=408&Itemid=36

Archive Shows:

The Black Coffee Channel Declares Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis Greatest Ever

Written by Robert ID4106

Thursday, 20 December 2007 22:48 -

http://www.blackcoffeechannel.com/index.php?option=com_content&task=view&id=409&Itemid=37